Foreword

A warm breeze blows, and on the horizon appears the Viking ship, bearing its captain and crew upon the sea of adventure. Yesterday has seen victory, achievement, and progress. But now, in the true spirit of adventure, the Vikings forsake their good yesterdays in search of better tomorrows. A new voyage has begun, one which will leave a wake of majestic blue and gold on the pages of history. The Saga is a record of this voyage, and may it forever be a source of inspiration as

The Vikings Sail Forward.

Merits Dedication

Mrs. Nina Holler

The 1968 Saga is dedicated to a truly outstanding member of the South Iredell faculty. Through her devoted service, she has touched the lives of many of the Vikings and has played a major role in the creation of the Viking tradition of which we are all so proud. In sincere appreciation for the guidance, encouragement, and inspiration which she has so generously given us, the Senior Class of South Iredell High School proudly dedicates the 1968 Saga to Mrs. Nina Holler.

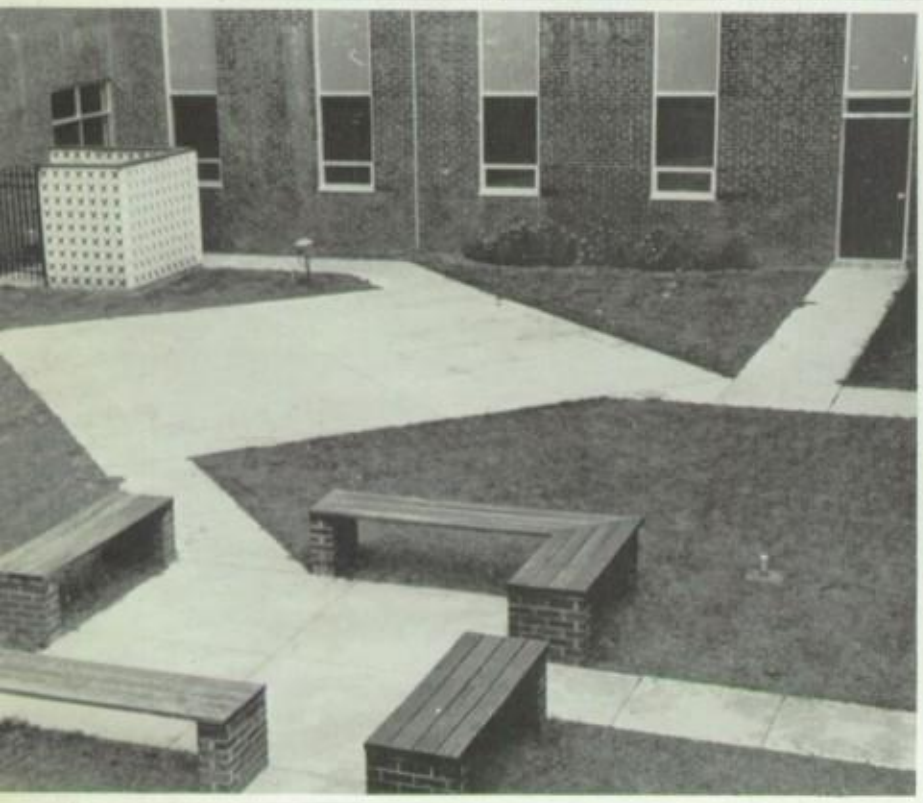
The Vikings experienced a wonderful maiden voyage. There were ball games and pep rallies, sock hops and proms, term papers and exams, and the general rush between classes. Amid all, the crew was led ably and wisely.

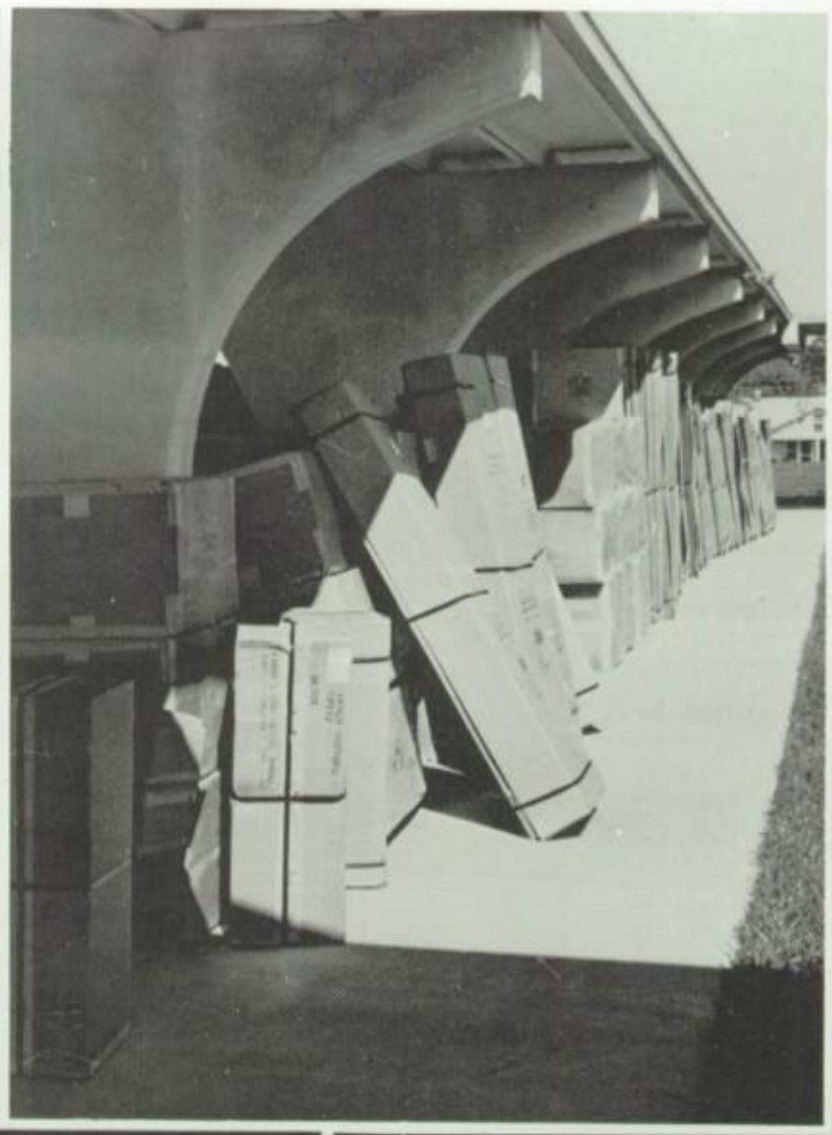
And now another voyage has begun. Many of the same ports of adventure have been visited, but at each one new horizons have been reached. There are new memories to cherish and many happy experiences to look back upon. Truly the ship sails on the crest of the wave of excitement as

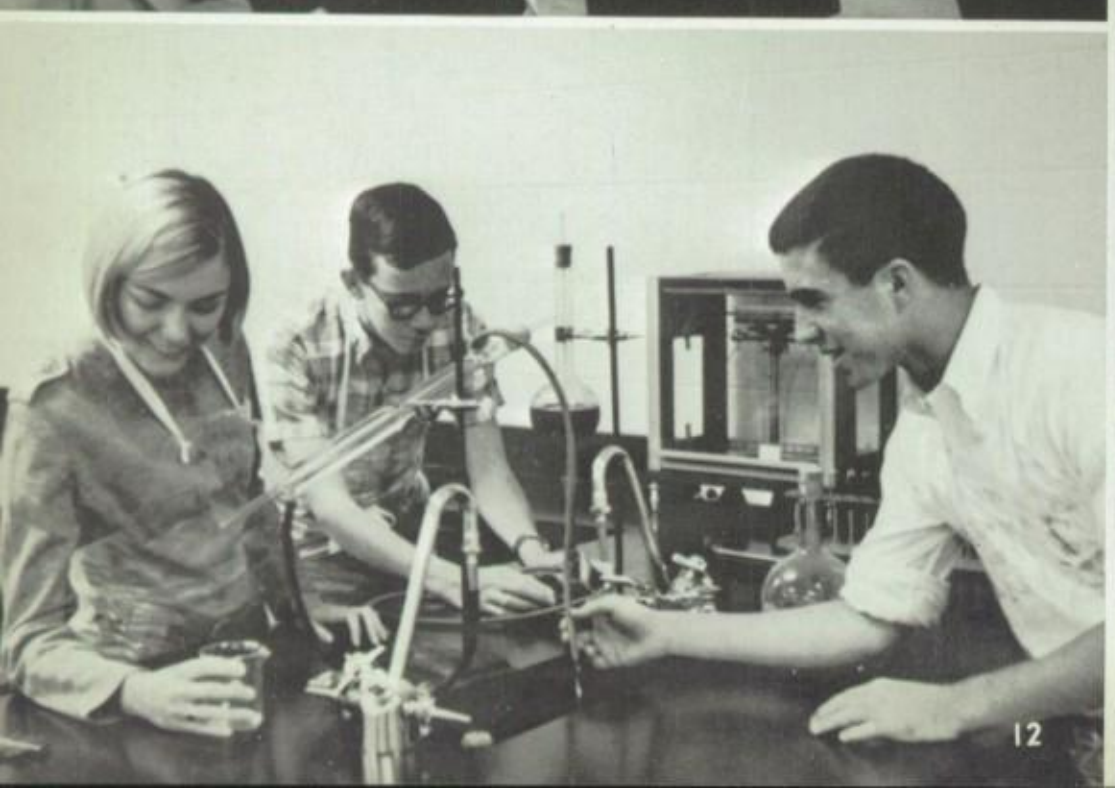
The Vikings Sail Forward.

Strong Viking Spirit Js

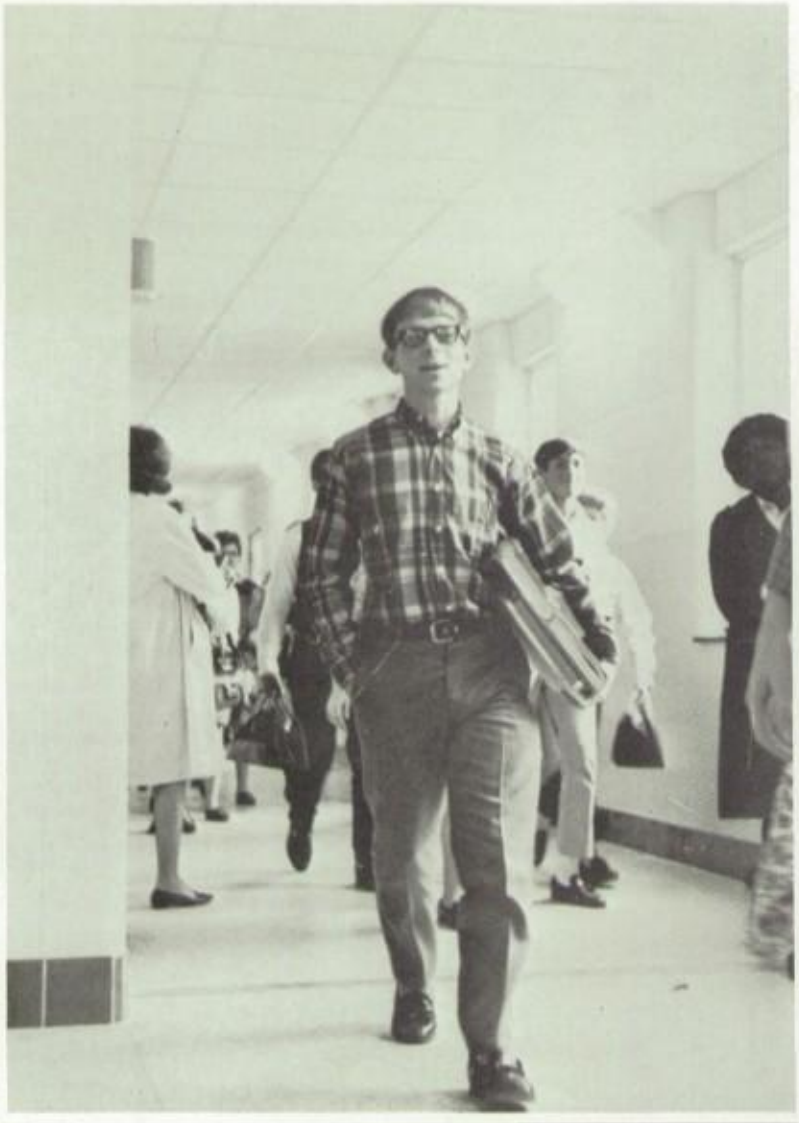


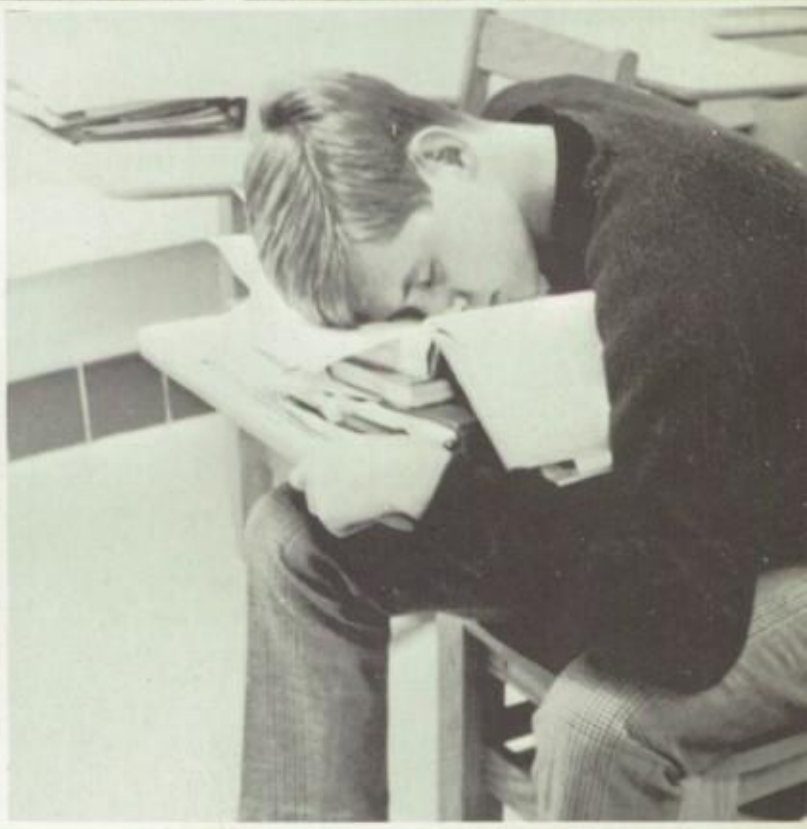
Evident In Everyday Scenes

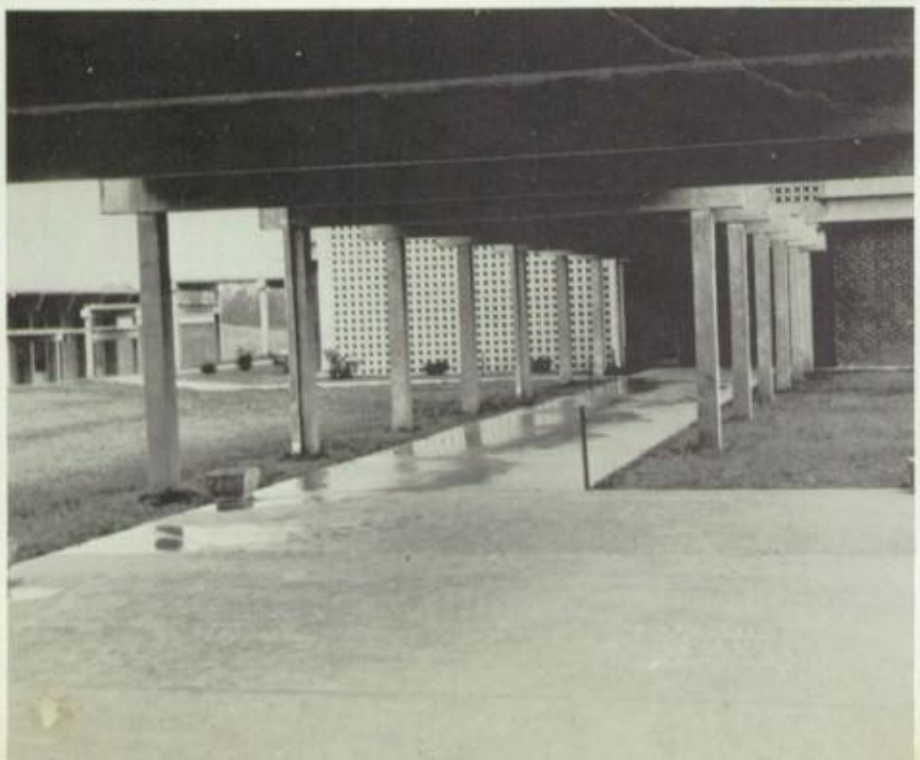


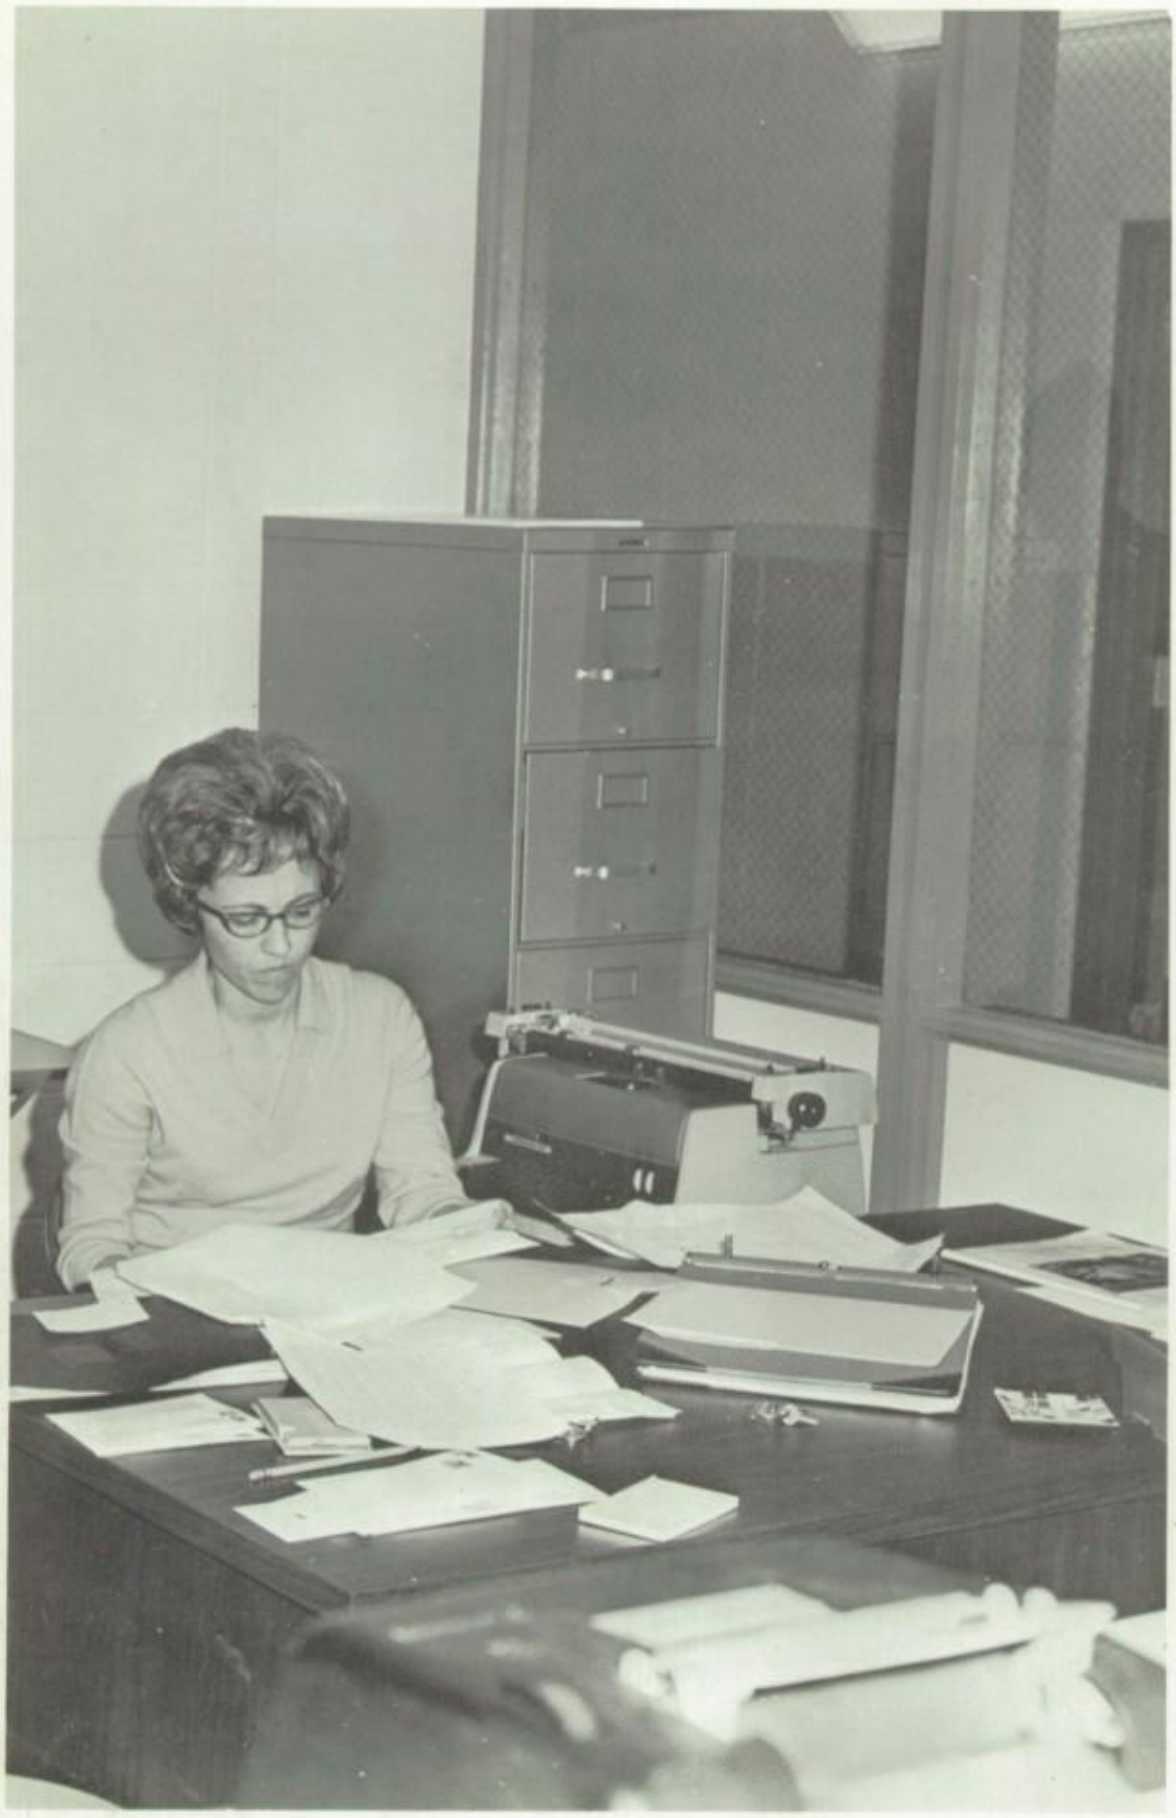


By Effort And Determination









As the sea waves beat against the hull, the Viking ship embarks on a new voyage, safely guided by the Captain and his competent crew. The Captain directs the paths of leadership. The Chieftains hold the responsibility of developing character by guiding footsteps in the direction of what is right, by imparting their wisdom to answer the unanswered, and by sharing their efforts and their time to insure that

Administration And Faculty

Administration

Mr. Harold L. Waters, Sr., Principal

The Vikings are privileged to have as their principal a man whose work and vocation are one and the same. By virtue of his competent leadership and dedicated service to the school, he has inspired his co-workers and followers to work more diligently in their own fields of endeavor.

As the Viking ship sails forward, all members of the crew contribute to the safety and success of the voyage. Seniors lead as members soon departing for unseen goals and challenges. Juniors assist by taking on new and more demanding responsibilities. Sophomores, with a year of experience to their credit, can more ably support the Vikings in their journey. Freshmen eagerly accept the challenges of a new voyage that now faces them. All participate and contribute to a rewarding voyage as

The Vikings sail forward.

The Student

The Student Council and its officers are elected by the students of South Iredell High School. Its chief purposes are to promote good citizenship and school spirit, to improve the general welfare and student-teacher relationships, and to advance the practice of democracy.

This year the Student Council sponsored a Powder Puff football game as a fund-raising project. Members of the Student Council and the football squad served as the team, the referees, and the cheerleaders.

These funds are being used to light the parking lot, to contribute to the athletic field fence, to provide stage furnishings, and to donate to the Johnny Morrow Fund.

The Student Council this year initiated the Courtesy Corps which is to promote courteous behavior in the halls, at assemblies, and at athletic events.

Another undertaking is the publishing of a student handbook which will contain courses offered, clubs available, school regulations, and the constitutions of the Student Council and the Courtesy Corps.

The students of South Iredell High School think often of a member of the Senior Class who is unable to be with them this year. The students miss his presence in the classroom, in the hallways, and on the athletic field. No one can fill the place of JOHNNY MORROW.

Johnny Morrow, with his family and Mr. Waters, watches his teammates in action.

School Dedication

A new crest was reached this year by the Vikings. South Iredell High School was dedicated on Sunday, December 10, 1967. Robert C. Garrison, Chairman of the Board of Education, was the principal speaker. Special music was presented by the school chorus. The keys to the school were presented by the architect to Superintendent T. Ray Gibbs, who, in turn, presented them to Mr. Harold L. Waters, Sr., principal of the school. These keys will unlock the doors to education for all those who come with perpetual desires and diligent labors.

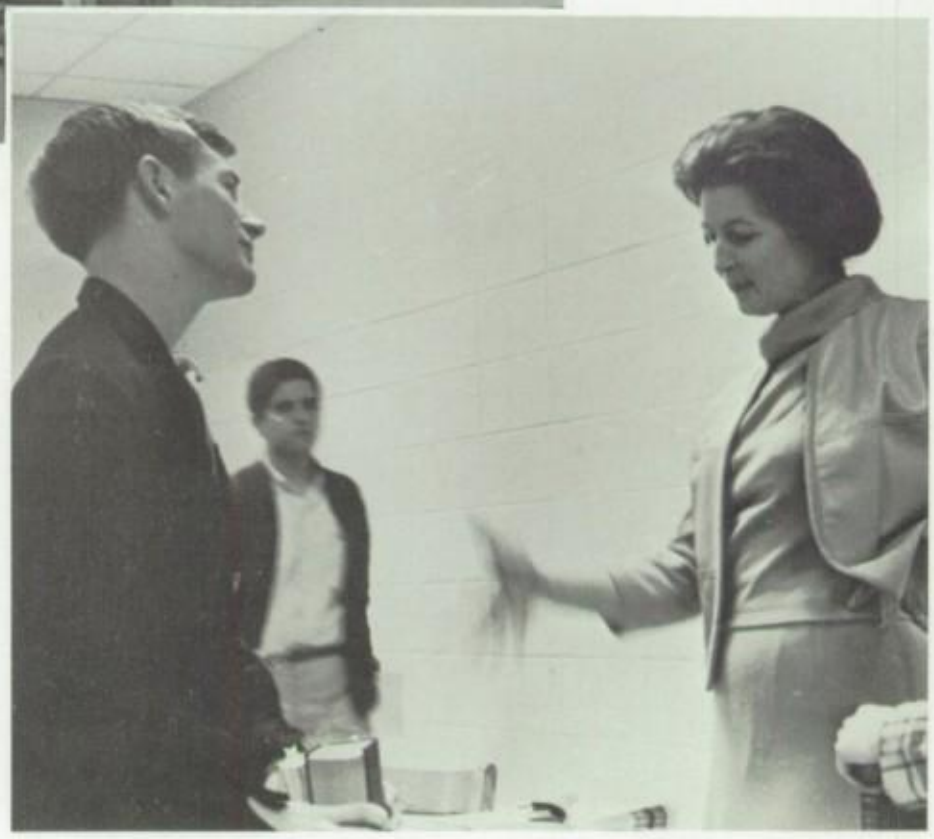
Academic Life

English Department provides basis

Students in Mrs. Smith's senior English class use the library in preparing their research papers.

The ability to use the English language effectively to communicate with others is a quality which is essential to an individual's relations with the rest of the world. A strong background of good grammar gives a person poise and confidence and enables him to take his place in all circles confidently. The English Department of South Iredell strives to give its students such a background.

In addition to grammar, students are also taught the fundamentals of composition. The four-year English curriculum includes the study of some of the world's greatest literature and teaches students the aesthetic value of great literary works.



Mrs. Davidson shows that when words are inadequate, gestures may be used effectively. Apparently, Steve Wilson gets the idea.

Miss Ford teaches reading students to increase their reading speed and comprehension.

for studies.

Mrs. Snipes teaches English by experience.

The Dramatics Class rehearses for a production.

Mrs. Wilson uses visual aids to complement the study of literature.

Social Studies

Mr. Dearman's educational television class prepares for a lesson in World History.

Students at South Iredell are thoroughly versed in the Social Sciences. United States History is required of all students. In addition to the required course, the student may take World History, World Geography, Civics, or Economics and Sociology as electives. These courses give an understanding of the ideas and events which influence world affairs.

students take notes on a lecture.

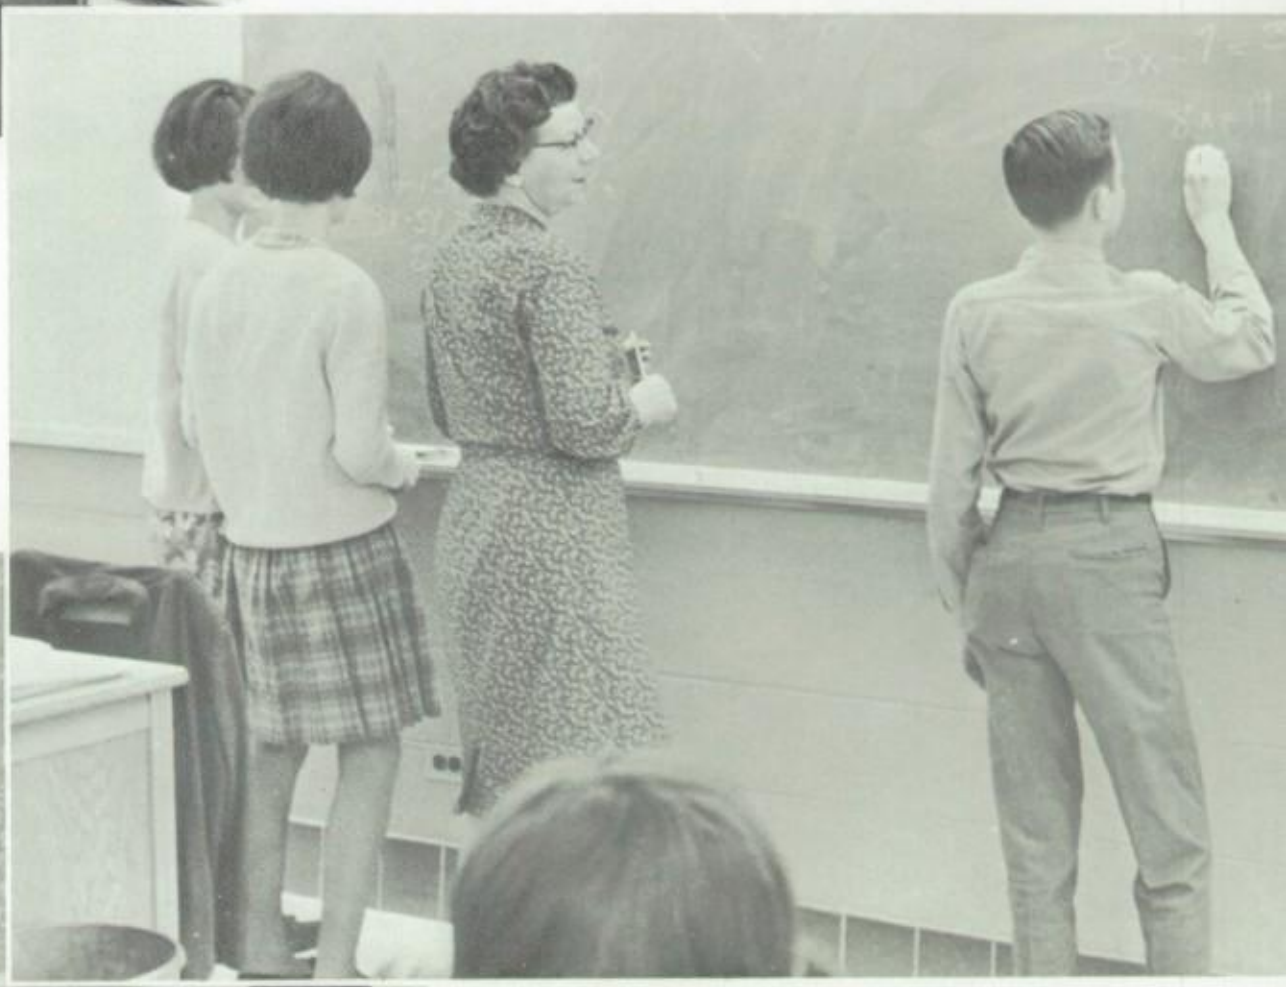
Students take a test in Civics under the direction of Mr. Whitson.

Reasoning powers

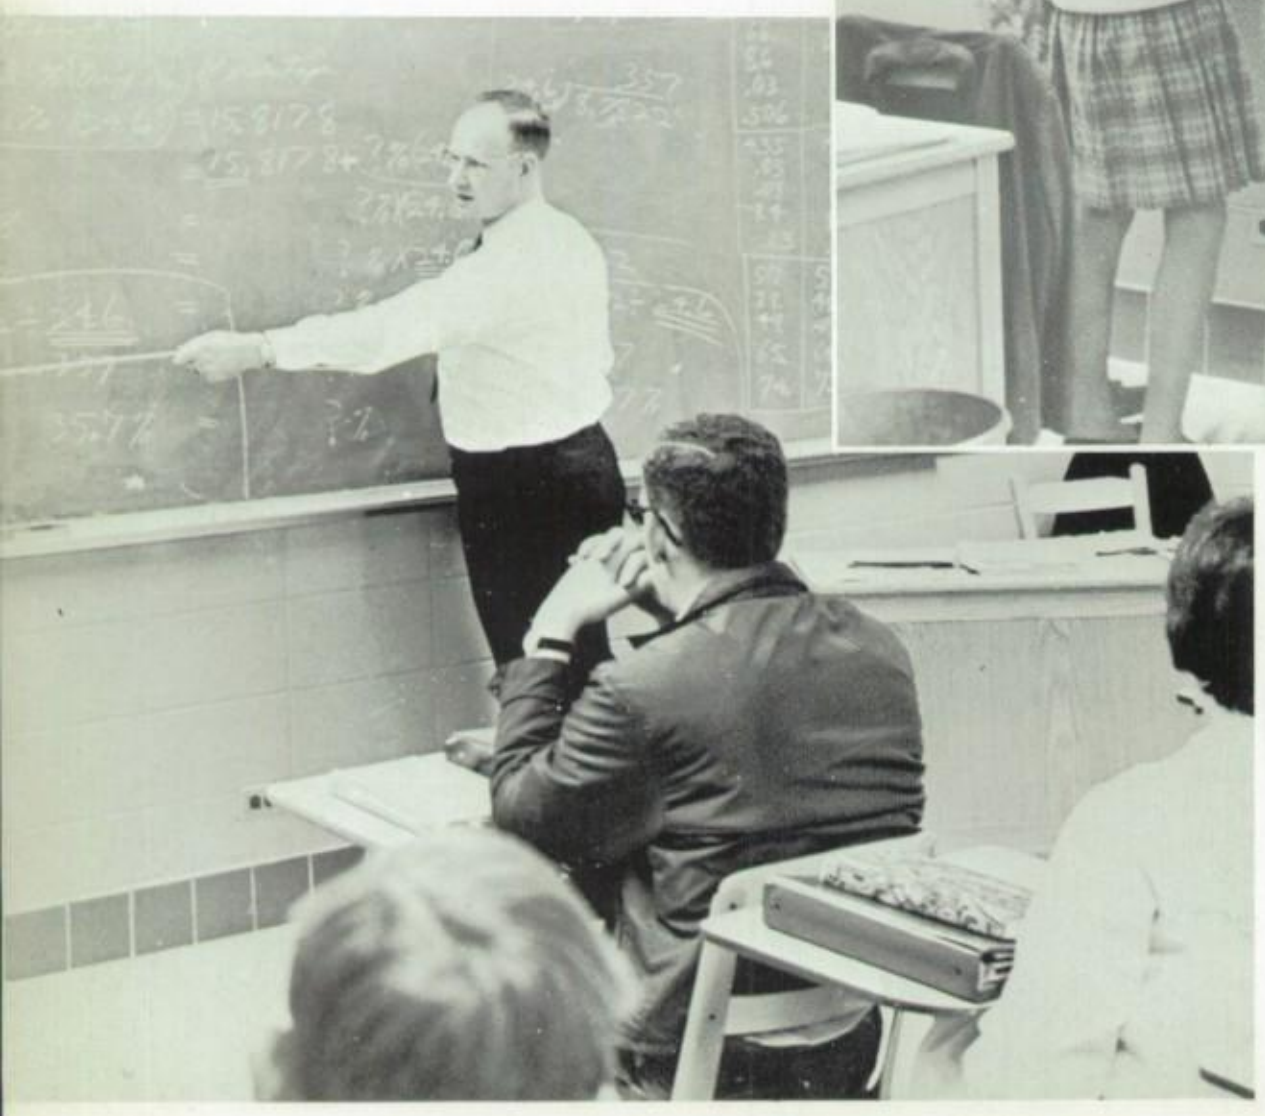
The Mathematics Department of South Iredell believes that mathematics is more than just a toy for the amusement of scholars. It is a useful tool for calculating, reasoning, and predicting; it finds uses in many and various fields.

South's mathematics program is such that each student will acquire a sound mathematical background. A minimum of two mathematics courses is required, and geometry and advanced mathematics are offered as electives. For the more industrious student, the supplementary materials of the department provide unlimited opportunities for independent study, and the degree of mathematical training available is limited only by the individual's ability and ambition.

Mr. Martin discusses algebraic principles.

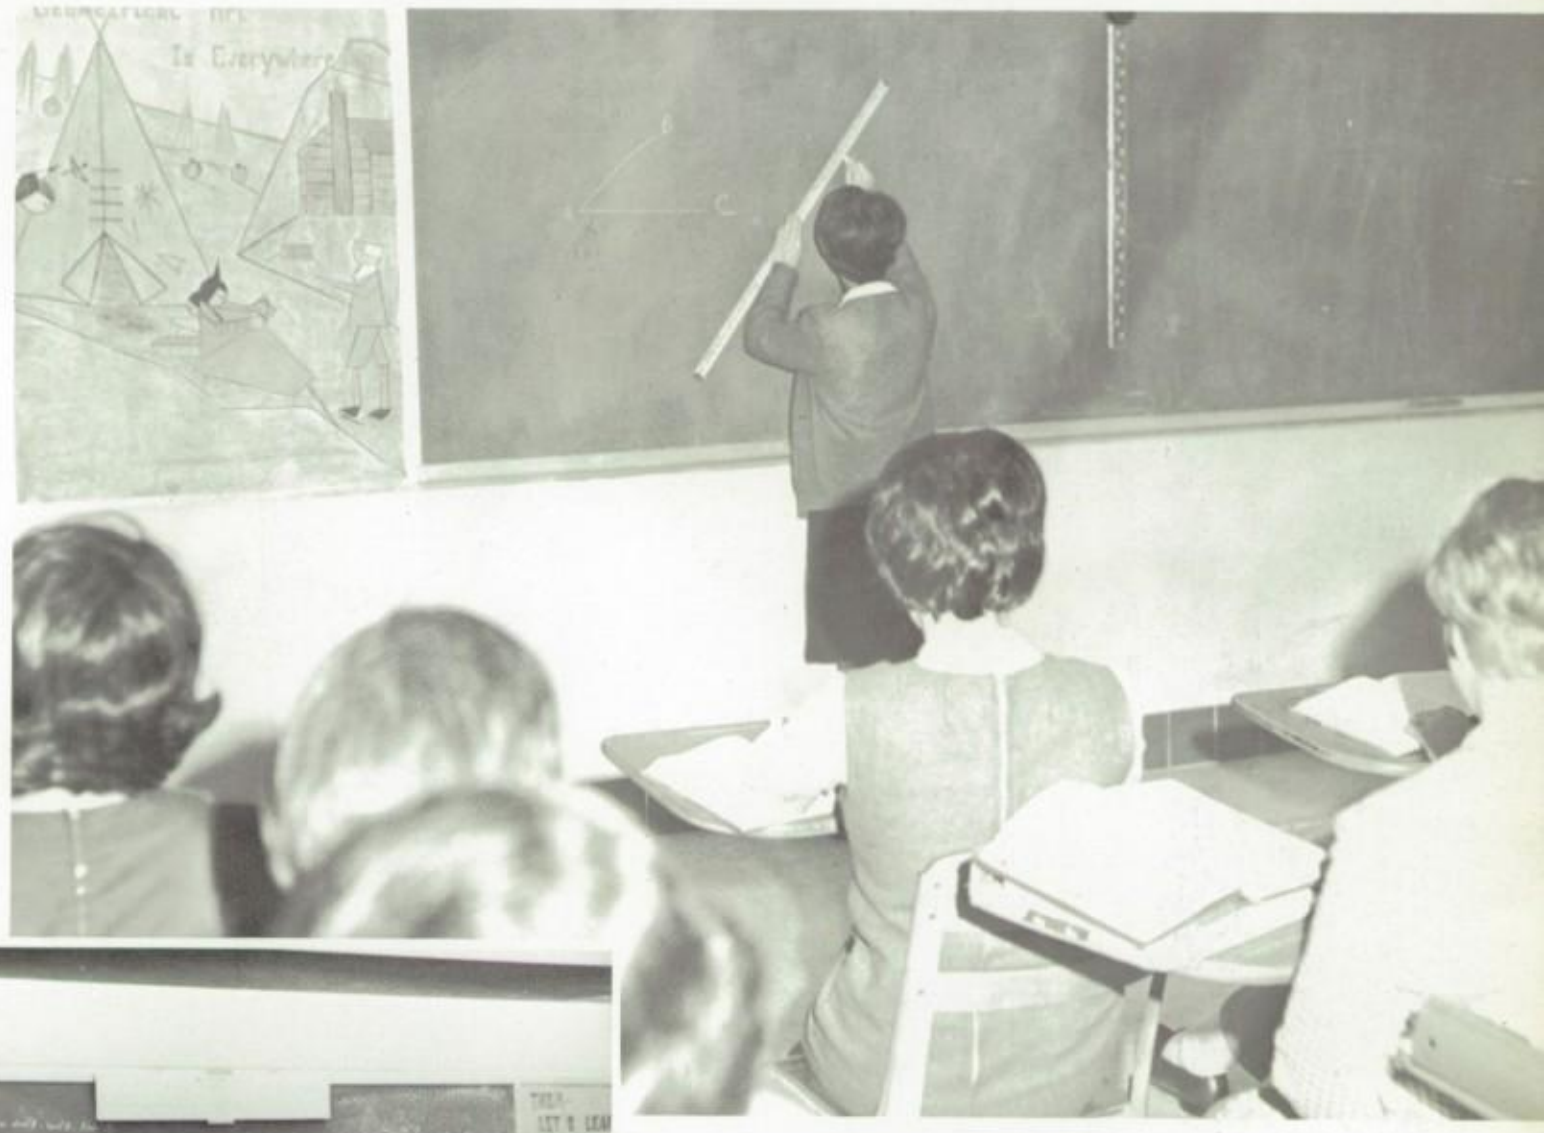


There is much to learn in General Mathematics.



Mrs. Troutman observes students doing class assignments.

are based on mathematical principles.



Jo Ann Pope experiments with geometric figures in Mrs. Sherer's class.

Mrs. Swann illustrates principles of advanced mathematics to her class.

Mr. Barber observes classroom work in Consumer Mathematics.

Inquisitive minds probe

Carol Hardwick watches as Mr. Calhoun lectures Johnny Chapman on the properties of static electricity.

An open door to learning.

Natural Science teaches students to understand the scientific principles which influence every area of their lives. Through South Iredell's Science Department, a student may attain as high a degree of scientific training as he desires.

Physical science and biology are the required science curriculum. These courses give a student a strong background in all areas of natural science. Working from this foundation, one may extend his knowledge into more specialized fields. The Science Department offers physics and two years of chemistry to prepare potential scientists for college work and for careers in the various fields of science.

Mrs. Galliher's first-year chemistry students work difficult problems.

Wayne Ball, Ida Margaret Hudson, and Kay Moore display their biology projects.

Students learn the principles of biological research in Mr. Loftin's biology lab.

Miss Wood explains the laws of reflection to physics students, Patsy Viars, Alvin Bumgarner, and Chucky Smith.

Languages

Mrs. LaMothe's students admire the painting of a Spanish dancer.

Foreign languages are among the most worthwhile electives offered at South Iredell. The language curriculum includes up to four years of either French or Spanish.

Students derive many benefits from the study of foreign languages. Most important, they are taught to speak and read another language and thus overcome the language barrier between themselves and people of other countries. But South's competent language teachers stress foreign literature and culture as well as grammar. Even if these students never have the opportunity to communicate with foreigners, they will find their lives greatly enriched by their study of languages. To all its students, foreign language serves as a "window to the world" and provides a better understanding of international affairs which affect all their lives.

Students learn pronunciation in Mrs. Suther's French Class.

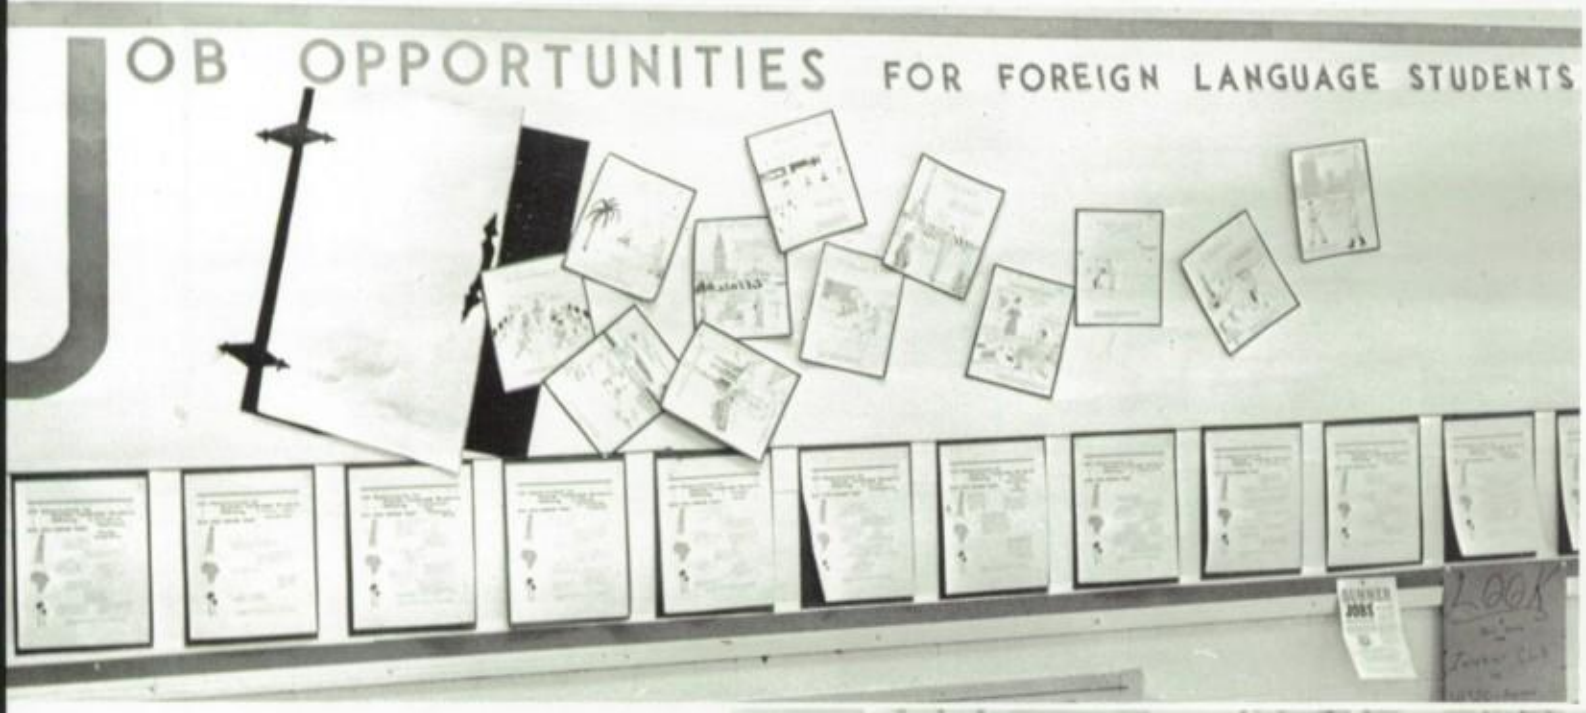
Janet Blackwelder is anxious to answer a question.

Mrs. Smith's students read Spanish dialogue.



Bulletin board illustrates the opportunities for language students.

Students converse in French in Mrs. Suther's class.

Future business leaders develop

South Iredell's Commercial Department tries to give adequate preparation to all those who choose careers in the business world. Typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping teach office skills to potential secretaries and executives.

Industrial Cooperative Training and Distributive Education train students for occupations in industry or sales. These courses include part-time jobs to give the students on-the-job training in their chosen fields.

Mrs. Smith's students work on accounts in bookkeeping.

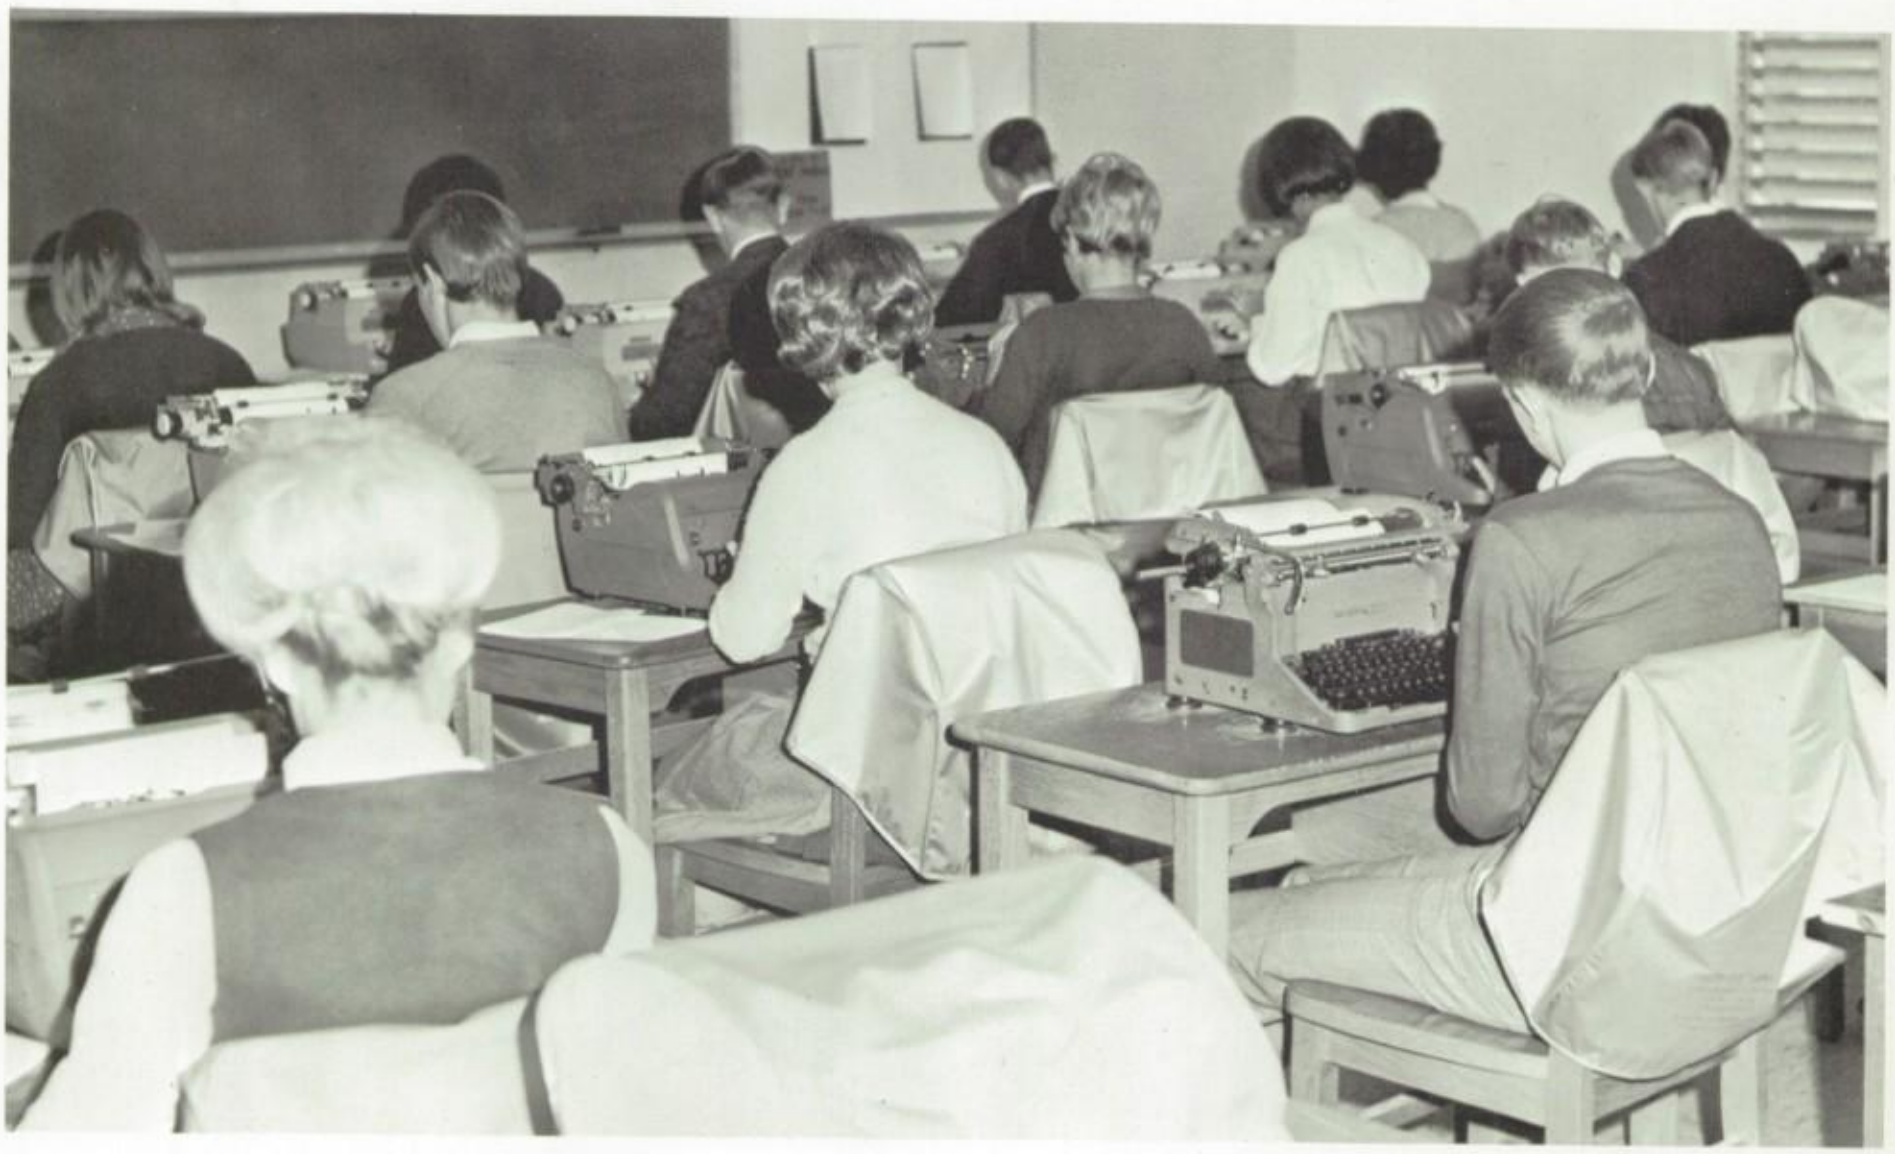
Students develop proficiency in shorthand by taking dictation.

ICT and DE students work while learning.

Mr. Woodfin teaches Distributive Education students to design attractive advertisements.

skills in Commercial Department.

Typing students work diligently in Mrs. Cartner and Mrs. Ingram's classes.



Vocational courses offer a variety

Vocational agriculture consists of group instruction and individual practices that increase the competence of those engaged in agriculture. It consists of courses in basic agriculture, horticulture, agricultural construction, machines and equipment, and mechanical drawing. Emphasis is placed on the development of knowledge and skills necessary for successful participation in agricultural work and on attitudes and ideals important in successful rural life.

Agricultural Construction students work on the greenhouse under Mr. Caudle's supervision.

Mr. Boone instructs the horticulture class in the planting of shrubs.

of experiences.

Home Economics courses include units in the areas of guidance, clothing, housing, child care, foods, family relations, family, money, and home nursing. Home Economics aims to teach students to live successfully with others and to achieve and maintain sound mental and physical health.

Mrs. Reid instructs student in sewing techniques.

Music and art give enjoyment.

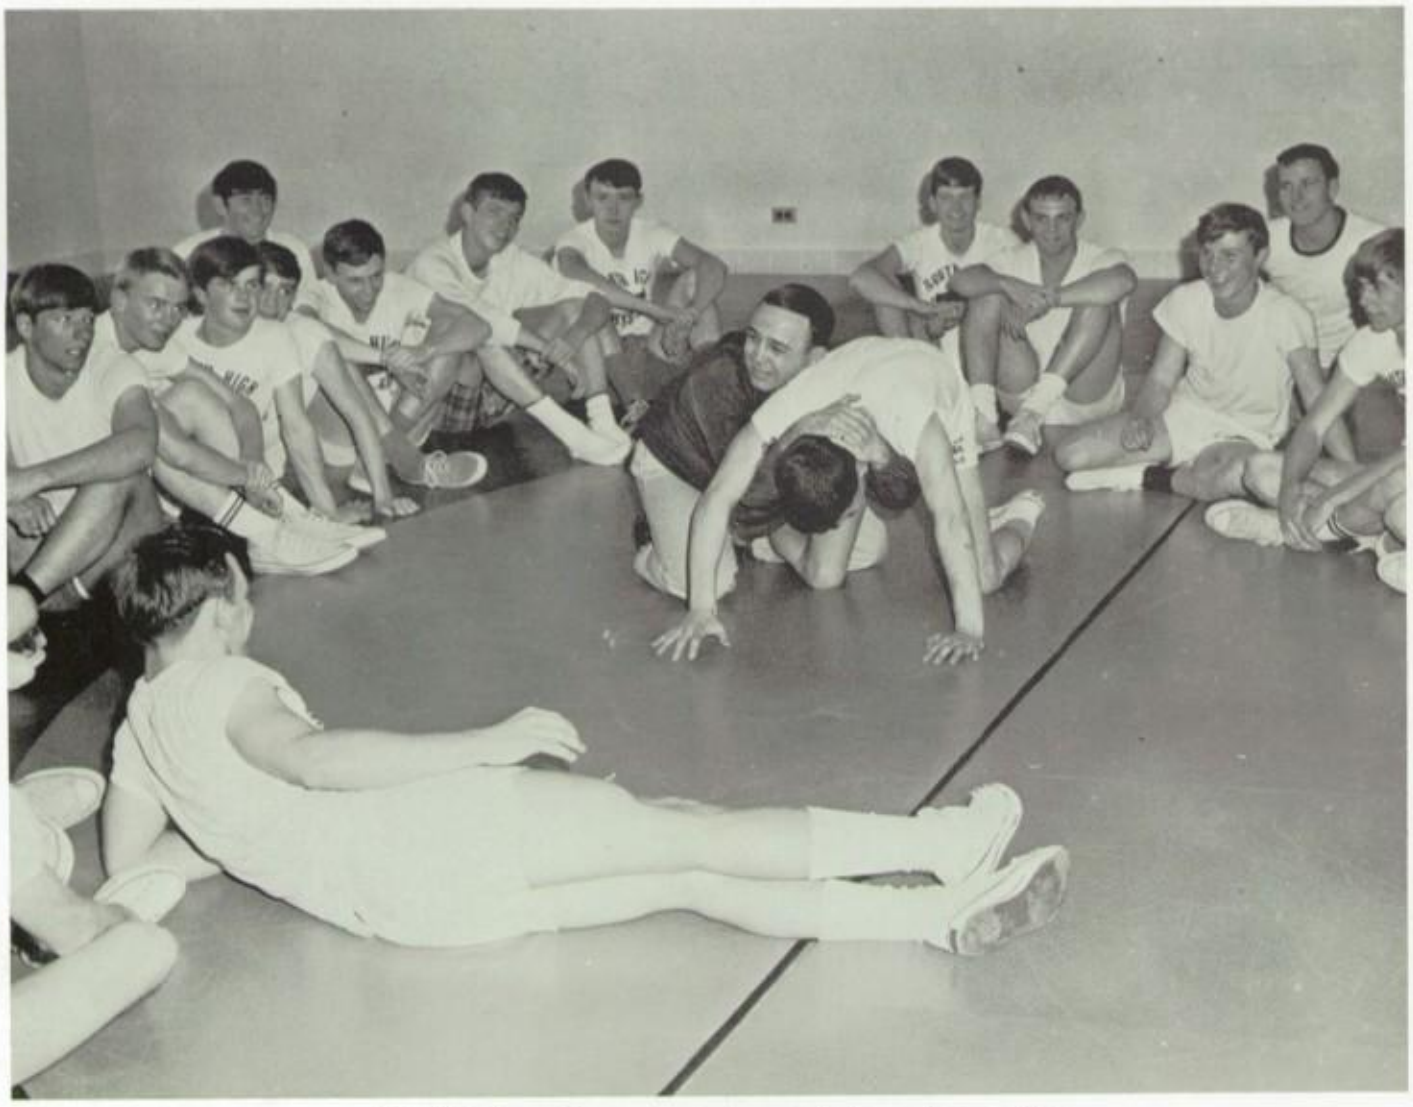
The curriculum of South Iredell has many facets. Students may enrich their lives with courses in band, chorus, and art.

Miss Ford prepares a class for a choral contest.

Band students concentrate on their music.

Art students discuss their next project.

Able bodies are built by Physical Education.



Physical education is essential to a balanced school program. Its value to today's youth has been emphasized throughout the country. One unit of physical education and health is required for all students in high school. Advanced physical education is also offered to boys.

Mr. Mayhew shows students a technique in wrestling.

Drivers Education is important.

Drivers Education consists of both classroom and road work. This course is important in teaching a sense of responsibility, a respect for the law, and a consideration for other people.

Mr. McCurdy discusses the importance of good tires.

Mr. Sherrill teaches classroom work in Driver's Education.

These seniors have been selected by their classmates as the most outstanding members of the class of 1968. These twenty-four have been accorded this special honor in recognition of their significant contributions to the image of the class as a whole. Each is truly superlative in his own special way. These persons exhibit an exceptional degree of personal achievement in areas of leadership, scholarship, or athletics. But more important, each of them is a true Viking, who has given unselfishly of himself to promote a common cause. Because of their efforts, the Vikings will sail forward more boldly.

To the Vikings of old, sports typified their way of life. To the Vikings of today, this same spirit is truly shown by their participation in and encouragement for athletics. The warriors fight bravely while members of the crew urge them on to greater victories. The journey would not be as rewarding without the sincere efforts of all as

The Vikings sail forward.

Reddy To Rock

Reddy Kilowatt never misses a party. In fact, without him, things would be pretty dull. Think of it: no stereos, televisions, electric guitars or ice cubes.

Thanks to Reddy there are over 160 flameless electric servants that make modern living comfortable, economical and fun. When you have a home of your own, there will probably be even more than that.
